Peter Cox, Cleveland Chiropractic College of Kansas City student and sabre fencing Olympian, was honored upon his return to the campus with an assembly and a barbecue. CCCKC President Dr. Carl Cleveland III welcomed Peter back home. Other speakers included Kansas City councilman Ken Bacchus, Roger Twibell (ABC sports commentator), and Howard Fidler, past Student Council president. Peter's wife, Heidi, and his brother and coach, David, were among the audience of students, faculty, and administration attending the assembly.

"To have made it to the Olympics as the number one U.S. Olympic men's sabre fencer is a significant accomplishment," said Dr. Cleveland. "The entire campus community shares the pride in this accomplishment."
