

Oklahaven Releases Testimonial Video

Editorial Staff

The Oklahaven Children's Chiropractic Center in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma has produced a video of patient testimonials from parents who's children were treated at Oklahaven. The children suffered from, among other diseases, asthma, cerebral palsy, and juvenile rheumatoid arthritis. The video tracks the children's progress with chiropractic treatment, including the story of a child deemed hopeless at birth who is now walking and playing.

Dr. Gilbert Rivera, president of the International Chiropractic Pediatric Association, donated $5,000 to assist with the production of the video, and to help the 34-year-old Oklahaven Center continue its mission to give chiropractic care to children with health problems.

The Oklahaven video is available for a $45 donation (tax-deductible). The funds should be directed to: Oklahaven Children's Chiropractic Center, 4500 N. Meridian, Oklahoma City, OK 73112.

Paralympic Games -- An Inspiration

Dr. Frank Gasparovic.

Inspired by the theme of the Paralympics, "There are no hopeless bodies, just hopeless minds. What is your excuse?", Dr. Frank Gasparovic of New Jersey served both as a chiropractic physician and athletic trainer for the quadriplegic rugby athletes competing in the 1996 Atlanta Paralympic Games.

Dr. Gasparovic said his greatest challenge was treating the unique needs of the Paralympic athletes, and uses the examples set by the Paralympic athletes to motivate his patients.

Cleveland Colleges on Web

Cleveland Chiropractic College has a home page on the World Wide Web ([url=http://www.clevelandchiropractic.edu]http://www.clevelandchiropractic.edu[/url]). Internet browsers can select from the web site either the Kansas City or Los Angeles campus for information on admissions, financial aid, postgraduate education, and academic, student, alumni and Health Center services.

There's a "College at a Glance" page that offers campus facts, and a "What's News" page that features articles about both campuses. Users may request more specific or in-depth information from various departments within the Cleveland Colleges via e-mail. The new website is maintained by Cleveland's Office of Publications.
