New Clinic Interns Honored

The alumni association of Palmer West honored 45 students for the achievement of passing their clinic entrance exam and embarking on the clinical internship portion of their chiropractic education. The quarterly ceremony featured a speech by alumni association President Dr. Cheryl Uhri (PCCW class of 1987), and the traditional PCCW alumni association presentation of clinic jacket lapel pins to the new interns. Joining the ceremony were Dr. Scott DeVoss (class of 1981), and Dr. Sherri Tomlin (class of 1989).

In her address to the new interns, Dr. Uhri said, "See as many patients as you can, challenge yourself, take the most difficult cases. This is a learning experience, take advantage of it."

Count Dracula Calls Blood Drive a Success*

The PCCW associated student body government held their semi-annual Blood Drive January 20th in the college's auditorium. The drive yielded 15 first-time donors, and a total of 49 units of blood donated to the American Red Cross. Loretta Friedman, student council first vice president and the drive's organizer said, "We were pleased by the generous response of the students, faculty, and staff. The Red Cross depends on Palmer West as a reliable source for their blood drive efforts. We hope to do even better the next time."

*Sorry, bad joke -- Thanks go to the blood donors and Loretta Friedman for organizing the ever important blood drives that are a matter of life or death to those in need of a blood transfusion.

A Scholar and an Athlete

Professional triathlete and Life West student Linda Janelli graduated magna cum laude from the college in December, and is now a LCCW teaching assistant in anatomy while continuing to compete in triathlons under the college's name. Dr. Janelli has been competing as a representative of LCCW since 1991, and her partial scholarship called for her to compete in four races per academic quarter. "I've been happy to be out there representing Life West, to be advertising the school as healthy. I do this because I love to do it."
