

Alaskan Board of Examiners in Peril?

Editorial Staff

In Alaska, the governor's Task Force on Boards and Commissions has proposed that all health profession boards (medicine, chiropractic, nursing, dentistry, optometry, etc.) be combined within a single so-called Citizens Health Board. The Citizens Health Board would be comprised of 12 members, none of whom could be engaged in any of the professions regulated or have any financial interest in the health field. The board would function within the Department of Commerce and Economic Development, Division of Occupational Licensing. A leader of the task force is quoted as saying, "I believe safe, effective, and efficient licensing can take place without an individual board for each profession."

Chiropractic Represented at European Student Fair 1992

Chiropractic was represented with a booth at the 1992 European Student Fair in Brussels, Belgium. The European Chiropractic Union (ECU) and Chiromag provided support for the booth. Three staff members were on hand to answer questions and talk with visitors. Participants in the fair included all major universities and higher education institutions from 23 European countries. Hundreds of visitors picked up the brochures and leaflets on chiropractic provided by the booth.
