Masters Circle Reaches Out to All Health and Wellness Professionals

Editorial Staff

The Masters Circle recently announced an invitation to not only chiropractors, but all licensed health care specialists, including, acupuncturists, naturopaths, medical doctors, nurses, podiatrists, dentists, nutritionists, physical therapists, veterinarians, pharmacists, psychologists and optometrists, to attend the Masters Circle SuperConference in Orlando, Fla., Oct. 26 through Oct. 28, 2006.

"The Masters Circle is widening its scope of service to include virtually all health and wellness professionals," said President Bob Hoffman, DC. "With a full complement of life coaches and experienced counselors, we focus upon driving the profits and performance levels of health care professionals - helping them to achieve the goals that they expect and deserve."

Attendees view a presentation by Masters Circle founders Drs. Bob Hoffman, Dennis Perman and Larry Markson at the 2005 SuperConference.

In addition to founders Drs. Bob Hoffman, Dennis Perman and Larry Markson, several other speakers and Masters Circle faculty will be in attendance this year to share "The Seven Magical Principles." Robin Sharma, international best-selling author and expert on leadership, will discuss "The Seven Successful Habits of World Class Performers." Debbie Ford, founder of the Ford Institute for Integrative Coaching, will talk about "The Seven Expressions of Greatness" and answer the question, "What does it take to live a life of happiness, fulfillment and balance while advancing your career and making a difference in people's lives?" Dr. Maurice Pisciottano, CEO and founder
