Editorial Staff

To increase ease of use and improve navigability for all Web users, the home page of ChiroWeb (<http://www.chiroweb.com>) now contains a direct link to ChiroExpo, Dynamic Chiropractic's online suppliers' directory. ChiroExpo allows you to visit virtual exhibit booths to learn about the available chiropractic products and services. It's here that you can ask questions, request information and receive free samples of certain products.

ChiroWeb's front page also includes links to 18 sections that help patients learn about back pain, soft tissue injuries, etc., and consumer safety. In addition, ChiroWeb's list of articles has been expanded to include those works published from 1990 to the present.

We are constantly seeking ways to make more information available to you on ChiroWeb. Make sure to bookmark <http://www.chiroweb.com> on your browser and visit us often to keep abreast of the latest in chiropractic.
